At Phillips Academy This Year, You Eat Your Breakfast And Like It

At least, you do if you're not a Senior. In past years, it seems, some of the lazier undergraduates have gotten into the habit of sleeping late in the morning, tearing out to their first classes, and then coming down town for a leisurely bite to eat. Not so any more. Attendance is taken at breakfast, and woe to the student who isn't there for his shredded wheat.

That's the most striking of the changes that have been made at Phillips for the coming year, though by no means the most important. When the school opened for its 164th year this week, its 740 students found new schedules, new classes, new buildings, new instructors.

The general opening program was the same as in previous years. On Monday and Tuesday afternoons, Headmaster and Mrs. Fuess entertained at a tea given in the Andover Inn for new boys and their parents, and members of the faculty were present to make the students feel at home—the fellow told us.

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster, indicated the Academy policy for the coming year in his address to the students this morning, when he told them that "no matter what our individual backgrounds or previous experiences may have been . . . no matter how carefree or careless we are, the war between the Allies and the Axis powers must be constantly in our minds. At work or at play, we shall be aware of it and its implications.

"It already means a great deal," he continued. "The staff of this school has already suffered heavily because of the patriotism of its members. This Academy, like every other educational institution, is likely to face the necessity of rigid economy.

"Under such conditions we reassemble," he said. "This is no time for selfishness, for idleness, for foolish pranks or unjustified complaints. We must all pitch in.

"Some immediate consequences of the war will make themselves felt in our program. We have, for example, established a course in navigation for those qualified to take it. We shall organize classes in fire-prevention and air raid precautions. We shall have frequent lectures on problems relating to war conditions. We shall do what we can in every way possible to meet the emergency.

"I have seen many signs already," he concluded, "That the morale of the undergraduate body at the opening of this year is sound and good; that the spirit of the school has been heightened by recent events. We stand together as American citizens, confident in our belief that what is best in our system cannot be injured or destroyed."

The football team got an earlier start than it has for several years. Captain Kenneth Keuffel's interest in his team caused him to come up from Montclair, N. J., and his teammates from practically everywhere else, to begin practice last Saturday. What's more, they practiced again on Sunday.

Besides the new coach and the new discipline, the students have a new daily schedule, new dormitories, and thirteen new teachers.

Let's get the new schedule first. This year, after his compulsory breakfast, the student will go to his morning classes in the time-honored manner. However, he will get through at 12:15 instead of 1:00, and the extra hour after dinner will be given to extra-curricular, non-athletic activities. Each student will be expected to take part in at least one of these, which one, of course, being entirely up to him. He can write or edit for the various school publications, do wood-turning, or machine-shop work, keep busy in the Addison Art Gallery, or join the Press Club, a new organization to be headed by Frederick Allis of the faculty.

The reasons for the changes are the necessity of providing a better balanced day for the student, and the educational value of extra-curricular activities. With a larger number of students to work with, a more efficiently organized program of these activities should be worked out than has been had before.

The front office announces the purchase of two new houses for student use.

They are the Carter house, at 153 Main street, of which Dr. Gustav Kaufmann will be housemaster, and the home of the late Dr. W. Dacre Walker, on School street, under the watchful eye of Mr. Alfred Compton.

During the summer, domestic upheavals of various sorts hit several members of the faculty. Stephen Whitney, Robert Woolsey, and John D. Hawes, all got married. Harper Follansbee signed a long-term contract with the U. S. Army, and Phillip Allen and Penrose Hallowell went to work for the army and navy, respectively. Kilbrith Barrows is in the diplomatic service.

Francis B. McCarthy from St. Paul's Academy, St. Paul, Minn., becomes instructor of English here. Evidently there's a pretty complete turnover in that department, as Alan Blackmer succeeds Arthur W. Leonard as its chairman.

Prescott Coan will hang his hat in America House, and teach chemistry when not occupied with his duties as assistant to George Follansbee with the Junior Varsity football squad. He is a well-reputed athlete from Amherst.

You won't have to look around much to see a new face this year. Walter Girasch will be familiar to some, as he was here last spring. He will teach English and live in Johnson Hall. John T. Burke joins the faculty as an instructor in music, and will reside at 77 Bartlet street. He is a graduate of the Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J., and replaces Whittridge Clark, now with radio station WOCB in Hyannis.

Cecil Ewing, new mathematics instructor, was head of that department at the Tome School in Maryland, and Dudley Fitts comes up from Choate School to teach English here. A brace of Yale men join the English department in Joseph N. Greene, Jr., and Edward T. Hall. The latter edited the "Phillipian" while a student here, and the "Yale News" at that institution.

Still going strong in the home stretch, the Academy also announces the appointment of W. Brooke Morgan, Jr., to the mathematics department, and John E. Petrie, Yale man, to the mathematics faculty. Joseph Staples is to replace James Chandler Graham, who is now doing research on our South American relations with the Rockefeller Foundation. Dr. Gustav Kaufmann becomes assistant school physician, his predecessor, Dr. Mitchell Gratwick, having left to become headmaster in the Hackley School in Tarrytown, N. Y.

Besides the servicemen, others to leave the Academy fold are Richard Gummere, to do special work in Education, Bartram Kelley, to do research in physics in connection with the defense program, Donald Timbie and Thompson Webb, to enter business.

Yes, there'll be a lot of changes at the Academy this year. Will you have one egg or two, Prep?

Confer Today On Crossing Protection

Prompt action is being taken to remedy the railroad crossing into St. Augustine's cemetery, where, on August 29, three local people lost their lives in Andover's worst railway accident in many years.

On the day following the accident, State Senator Thomas J. Lane sent a petition, signed by more than 85 Andover citizens, requesting a hearing from the Department of Public Utilities in Boston, on the matter of proper protection for the crossing.

The result of that petition was a conference Tuesday between Senators Lane and Frank D. Babcock with several of the D. P. U. officials, among them being Chairman Carroll Means, members Francis M. McKeon, John M. Wholley, and Gilbert W. Cox, Chief Engineer William J. Keefe, and Executive Secretary Allan Brooks.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN Published every Thursday by Elmer J. Grover at 4 Park Street, Andover, Mass. Printed by Smith & Coutts Co., 4 Park Street. Entered as Second Class Matter at the Andover Post Office. Editor: Elmer J. Grover; Price, 5 cents per copy. $2.00 a year

After talking over the salient points in the matter, it was decided to hold another conference this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Present at this second conference will be Selectmen Roy E. Hardy and Howell Shepard, State Representatives J. Everett Collins, Harold Pedler, and Raymond W. Schlapp, Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's Church, and General Counsel William A. Cole, representing the Boston and Maine Railroad.

The local people are seeking, either to eliminate the shed which completely blocks the view to the south, or to have warning signals installed at the crossing.

...And The Band Played On

Patriotic Music Features Impressive School Opening

Alexander Dick, eighty-four years old, though looking more like sixty-five, squinted into the sun and watched the flag move slowly up the pole. It was the official opening ceremony of the Indian Ridge School, where he has served so long as janitor, and Alex was thinking of the years he had put in there and the numbers of the students he had seen come and go. The years seem to go faster as you get old. Each new season assumes an importance of its own, and becomes a distinctive page in the record. Every year, the opening of school means a good deal to Alexander Dick; this year, with the state of the nation so critical, perhaps it meant more than usual. Or maybe the circumstances had something to do with it.

Certainly those circumstances were impressive enough to awaken solemn feelings in anyone. Ordinarily, the opening of school in the fall is a rather drab proceeding; the students come back, the principal says a few words, bulletin boards are scanned, and the classes get under way with a minimum of fuss and feathers. Not so this year. Superintendent of Schools Kenneth L. Sherman has been thinking for some time that the opening of school is a dramatic affair, and should be given a little color to make that drama more readily apparent. With national emotion so highly keyed, what's more natural than a public display of patriotism by the returning students?

That's how it all started. The cooperation of Miss Miriam Sweeney, Director of the Punchard Girls' Band, and of the sixty-odd girls who, even though school wasn't in session, were willing to sacrifice some of their leisure for drill and rehearsal, made the demonstration practicable.

So it was that the opening of the public schools became a matter of more than usual interest to the townspeople of Andover this year. There were more than a hundred of them, grouped under the still-shady elms and maples on the school grounds, watching in reasonable silence as the flag was raised and the National Anthem played.

They saw a pretty picture. A few clouds drove across the sky, hustled along by the strong west wind that ruffled the clothing of the onlookers below. A few leaves floated down to the brown grass, but the trees themselves were still green and full. The students of the central grammar schools and the high school formed three sides of a hollow square around the flag-pole, and the band, in full uniform, the fourth side.

When the band had entered and the group was completely formed, David Markert, president of last year's Junior class at Punchard, and Robert McDonald, this year's captain of football, advanced to raise the flag. As it broke out and fluttered up the pole, the audience stood at attention and the band struck up the "Star-Sangled Banner." Led by the two boys, the twelve hundred spectators gave the salute to the flag. There was another musical selection, and then the students filed back to their classrooms, the grown-ups drifted away, the Girls' Band got into school busses. Soon the flag was alone there on the sunny campus, whipping briskly in the breeze, silently symbolising that American way of life, of which the schools behind it are such an integral part.

At all the other schools, the Shawsheen, Bradley, Indian Ridge, West Parish, and North, the ceremony was much the same. In each case there was a flag salute by the pupils and teachers, marching and playing by the Girls' Band. Present at each exercise were Superintendent Sherman and School Committeeman William A. Doherty. By noon, nearly 1500 students were already hard at work.

The enrollment figures, as released by Superintendent Sherman, are nearly the same as last year, when 1480 were registered. In all the public schools this year, there are students; of these, 323 are in Punchard, 425 in the Junior High, 346 in the central grammar grades, 175 in the Shawsheen, 59 in the Bradlee, 64 in the Indian Ridge, 52 in the West Center, and 20 in the North School. The late arrival of many students, however, is expected to result in an October 1 figure of well over 1500, to compare with last year's 1517.

While the differences are not, perhaps, great enough to matter, it may be worth observing that there is a general increase in the grammar school enrollment, and a decrease in that of Punchard. Perhaps the defense program, and the opening of many jobs to high school students, may account for this.

The members of the reorganized Girls' Band, marching and playing as precisely as if the football season were half over, instead of just beginning, were:

Drum Major: Jean Gilfoy.

Majorettes: Barbara Hill, Dorothy Coolidge, Jane Lindsay, Evelyn Coolidge, Miriam Fallon.

Trumpets: Anne Reading, Constance Swenson, Evelyn Porter, Dorothy Muise, Betty Jane Gordon, Glenna Draper, Mina Manthorne, Rebecca Stevens, Georgeanna Reed, Mildred Fallon, Marjorie Irwin.

Trombones: Muriel Pullan, Lillian Lovely, Evelyn Smalley, Sally O'Riordan, Jane Milliken.

Alto Horns: Eleanor Dwyer, Margaret Mitchell, Everilda Collins, Claire Lefebvre, Betty Golden.

Baritone Horns: Constance Boddy, Ruth Cashman.

Eb Sousaphone: Shirley Brown.

Clarinets: Lois Henderson, Angela Magnano, Marjorie Howes, Kathleen Valentine, Letitia Noss, Ruth Glennie, Estelle Oliver, Elsie Snyder, Marjorie Milliken, Margaret Coolidge, Dorothy Souter, Shirley Gordon, Helen Crockett, Patricia Arnold, Constance Dow.

Saxophones: Eileen West, Eleanor Connolly, Helen Manning, Ruth Webster, Gladys Monroe.

Piccolo: Jocelyn White.

Snare Drums: Gladys Martinson, Gertrude Batchelder, Doris Parsons, Ruth Maylum, Catherine Pattullo, Katherine O'Riordan, Natalie Lawson, Margaret Webster, Rita Downs, Doris Bradshaw, Betty Wait, Isobel White.

Bass Drums: Gladys Deyermond, Jacqueline Verrette.

Cymbals: Mildred Videto, Louise McDonald.

Glockenspiel: Isabel Deyermond.

The primary fact, however, is that the public schools have made a fast start this year. They have opened with a splendid display of morale and patriotism. As the years roll on, and names like Churchill, Hitler, Roosevelt, are shaded in oblivion, the initiative shown this week in the public school system may assume a large importance in the lives of its students.

DOCTOR RECOVERING

It looks as if the medicos get sick just like the rest of us, even if they do know how to live right.

Dr. Stanley Chart has returned home from the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, where he was operated on for appendicitis. He is now able to see his patients at his office at 84 Main street.

DISCUSSES VACATIONS

Andover Grange 183 met in Grange Hall on Tuesday evening. During the Lecturers' hour, the members present gave varied accounts of their vacation experiences. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Robinson, Mrs. Jack Peatman and Mrs. Harry Dawson.

Defense Savings Stamps are available in denominations of 10, 25, and 50 cents, and $1 and $5. These stamps make possible the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds on a practical installment plan.

SEPT. 11-13—Annual Carnival At St. Augustine's

You'll want to save a couple of hours this evening to look in on the St. Augustine's Parish Carnival, to be held through Saturday on the school grounds on Chestnut street. There's a lot of fun to be had there at the various game and refreshment tables, each manned by people who are bound you'll have a good time even if they themselves have laryngitis for the next week. And it's all for a good cause of course—the completion of payments on the old Cricket Field, where the C. Y. O. boys have been operating so successfully for the past two years.

SEPT. 15—Rebekahs Stage President's Reception

At 6:30 next Sunday evening, Indian Ridge Rebekah Lodge, 183, I. O. O. F., will entertain the board of officers and the president of the assembly, Mrs. Mildred K. Torrey. At 6:30, in Fraternal Hall, a catered supper will be served, to be followed by a reception to the president and other distinguished guests.

After the reception, the degree will be given to several candidates, with Mrs. Charles Barnet presiding, and Miss Grace Lake as degree Master, and Mrs. John Denholm as soloist. Tickets may be obtained before Friday night from Mrs. David Binnie of 50 High street.

At 2 p. m., Sunday, there will be a meeting of the officers and complete degree staff in Fraternal Hall, and at 4:30 p. m., a business meeting to take care of all business and the annual report.

SEPT. 17—Hospital Fair In North Andover

A good many Andover people will be interested in the announcement that the annual sale and tea, sponsored by the women of North Andover for the benefit of the Lawrence General Hospital will be held next Wednesday. The fair will be held from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the vestry of the Trinitarian Congregational Church.

Friends of the hospital from Andover will find a splendid market containing fresh vegetables and fruits, home cooked food, jellies, candies, and gifts. Another attraction will be a rummage sale which will include a number of fine antique articles. A light luncheon can be had at noon, and afternoon tea from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The Executive Committee comprises Mrs. John H. Morse, Mrs. Samuel F. Rockwell, Mrs. Richard Russell and Mrs. Abbot Stevens. They extend a cordial invitation to Andover residents to participate in this endeavor for a very worthy cause.

Weddings....

With more than 200 guests in attendance, Miss Alice E. Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Carmichael of 8 Burnham road, recently became the bride of Roger H. Whitcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Montie Z. Whitcomb of 3 Main street terrace.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a faille taffeta gown with a long train, and a knee-length veil falling from a Mary Stuart cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Carmichael, sister of the bride, wore an aqua taffeta gown, and carried a bouquet of gladiolas of the same color.

Among the bridesmaids, Miss Alice Bertram wore orchid moire taffeta with peach gladiolas, Miss Mildred Forsythe, old rose taffeta and blush pink gladiolas, and Miss Hazel Blanch, of Lowell, pink taffeta with orchid gladiolas.

The ceremony was performed in the Free Church by Rev. Herman Johnson, the pastor, on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue dress with dubonnet accessories, and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Whitcomb wore blue with black accessories, also with white gardenias.

William Reese was organist at the ceremony, and the church was beautifully decorated by Wendell Kydd with white gladiolas and palm.

Best man at his brother's wedding was Irving J. Whitcomb, and the ushers were Burton and Reginald Whitcomb, brothers of the groom, and James Carmichael, brother of the bride.

After a largely attended reception in the parish house following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip to Groton, Long Point, Conn. They intend to reside at 8 Cedar road.

Both are graduates of Punchard High School. The groom is employed as a clerk at the Andover National Bank. The bride, since her graduation from the Boston School of Dental Nursing, has been employed in the office of Dr. Nathaniel Stowers.

Miss Genevieve Dzioba, daughter of Peter Dzioba, 44 Allen street, Lawrence, recently became the bride of Edward Kirwin, son of Mrs. Alice B. Kirwin, 58 Stevens street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Peter Hajna, O.M.C., last Saturday morning in the Holy Trinity Church, Lawrence.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown embroidered with pearls, and with a sweetheart neckline and shirred bodice. She had a fingertip veil of tulle, falling from a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias clustered around a white orchid.

Miss Frances Dzioba, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a magenta gown with a rose bodice. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and babies' breath.

George St. Jean, friend of the groom, acted as best man.

Drouin-Moran

At a pretty afternoon ceremony in St. Augustine's Chapel-on-the-Hill Church in Lawrence, Miss Edna Eva Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, 11 Providence street, Lawrence, recently became the bride of Henry R. Drouin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Drouin of 96 North street. Rev. Arthur B. Maxwell, O.S.A., was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a white satin gown with a lace bodice and lace insertion en train, and a fingertip illusion veil falling from a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was composed of white lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Her sister Marguerite acted as bridesmaid, and wore a white velvury gown with a Colonial style hoop skirt, a white net hat trimmed with forget-me-nots, and a Colonial bouquet of sweet peas and baby's breath.

The flower girl, Miss Ruth Carney, wore a honey blue and aqua dress with an old-fashioned Colonial bouquet.

The bride's mother wore a sheer blue and white redingote dress with a corsage of tea roses. The groom's mother wore a blue and white dress with a corsage of sweet peas.

The best man was Russell Hardacre, intimate friend of the groom. After a short wedding trip to Maine and the White Mountains, the couple will reside at 15 Acton street, Lawrence.

Smith-Eastman

Miss Elizabeth Cobb Eastman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Eastman of 83 Chestnut street, last Saturday became the bride of Donald William Smith of Auburndale and Erie, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of 376 Central street, Auburndale. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home at 4:00 by the Rev. Elton E. Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Best man at the wedding was Harry Curtis of Chicago.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony. After a short wedding trip, they will live in Newton.

Mrs. Smith graduated from Punchard High School in 1936 and from the Copley School of Fashion Arts in Boston, in 1938. She is employed in the office of the William Carter Company in Needham. The groom is a graduate of the Erie, Pa., High School and the Erie Business College. He is New England sales representative for the A. J. Zurn Co., manufacturers of plumbing supplies in Erie.

Wright-Jenkins

At a well-attended wedding in the South Church last Saturday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth K. Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Alice H. Jenkins of 287 Main street, became the bride of Sterling K. Wright, son of Mrs. Nina Wright of Saxton's River, Vt. The nuptials were performed by Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Church.

The bride was given away by her brother, Burton Jenkins, and wore a white taffeta dress with bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor, her sister Eleanor, wore a fuchsia-colored taffeta dress with a bouquet of pink roses. The brides-maids, Misses Helen Buxton and Gretchen Cleaves, and Mrs. Paul Carey and Mrs. Donald Greenlaw, wore Windsor blue taffeta, also with bouquets of roses.

The best man was Arthur Ross of Boston, and the ushers were Philip Frey, Henry Miller, Lester Shean, and Daniel Carr.

The bride's mother was dressed in teal blue, and the groom's mother in dusty pink, both with corsages of roses.

After a reception at Shawsheen Manor, the newly-married couple left on a short wedding trip. On their return, they will make their home at Shelburne Falls, Mass.

The bride is a registered nurse, and graduated from Punchard High School and the training school of the New England Baptist Hospital. The groom attended Vermont Academy and Norwich University, and is employed as an electrical engineer with the New England Power Company.

DEYERMOND AND DUSCHAME

Patrolman and Mrs. John Deyermond of 11 Shawsheen road, recently announced the engagement of their only daughter, Elizabeth, to Pvt. Frank H. Duschame, Jr., formerly of 248 Osgood street, North Andover, and now with the military police squad of the Yankee division, at present stationed at Fort Devens.

Miss Deyermond is a graduate of Punchard High School, as is Private Duschame. He was a two-sport athlete during his stay there. The merger of the rival police forces is expected to take place in a few months.

Time For Action

If you saw a man murdering another man and you didn't even know who the victim was because he probably lives some distance away from you, what would you do? Would you say "That's none of my business. That's their quarrel?"

If you failed to interfere and let the murderer go about his nefarious work, you wouldn't feel too proud of yourself, would you?

Quite a few Americans, fewer fortunately each week, have been closing their eyes to murder. They've read and seen pictures about Nazi Germany's Gestapo activities. They know that following the Nazi armies lightning victory over Poland, the Gestapo has been systematically exterminating Polish people. They know that at the command of Adolf Hitler these armies have swarmed over Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France, Yugoslavia, Greece, and now Russia. They know that in those countries, and also in the countries which Hitler has taken by "peaceful occupation," — Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, and last but not least, Italy,—the Gestapo has ruled with an iron hand, with mercy toward no one, its policy being to kill anyone opposing the Nazi regime.

We don't know whether Nazi Germany, even if it is able to acquire and develop the enormous resources of Soviet Russia, would ever be able to come over here and conquer us. But still aren't we in the position of the man who merely watches while another man is murdered?

Once, two years ago, when this thing first started, it was easy to say that we should keep out of it, that it was just another of Europe's internal and eternal quarrels. But as it has progressed the world has come to know more of Adolf Hitler's criminal plans, and to the United States belongs a share of the duty of eliminating those who wish to eliminate others.

Tonight, President Roosevelt is to make an address to the world, and those who feel they can predict what the President will say, have expressed the belief that he will urge more active participation by the United States in the war. There will be those who will undoubtedly denounce the President for this attitude. Among them will be those who are pacifists by nature, but this will be a very small minority. There also may be opposition from the opposition party, or rather from those members of the Republican party who feel they are best serving the party by opposing the President merely because he is a Democrat. And of course there will be those who sincerely believe that we can help the world by keeping out of the war.

Yet it must be obvious that we should more fully participate, mainly by increasing our flow of war materials to the beleaguered nations and by making certain that these materials get there. It is not as if we were entering this struggle with just a hope of a fair peace, for this time the leaders of the two nations have conferred about peace terms before the United States took any possible action. England and United States are now committed to make a peace which will be just for all nations and which should eliminate the possibility of future wars. Now that we have this guarantee we can and should become a more active participant in the fight for freedom.

POLICE BLOTTER

Some city slicker is passing bad checks around town. He comes from Lynn, and used to work in the big General Electric plant there. All the workers of that company wear pins bearing their photographs, and evidently our check passer didn't turn his in when he was discharged. Twice recently he has visited Andover and Shawsheen stores, flashed the pin to show his reliability, and cashed checks that bounced like ping-pong balls. No arrest was made when he gave partial restitution on his first two checks, but now he is at it again. Next time he can practice his penmanship in the cooler.

Ten dollars was subtracted from the assets of Otis T. Shiner, of 2 Wall street, Derry, when he was convicted in the Lawrence District Court for speeding. He was arrested last Saturday by State Policeman William Knightly and Patrolman Joseph O'Brien while rolling along at sixty-five an hour.

The District Court also gave John E. Young of 4 Summer street, Lawrence, a month to get up $55, his fine on counts of being drunk and driving under the influence of liquor.

If any of your friends went to the midget auto races this week, it may have been with a rain check lost in the Square, along with $5 in change, from the wallet of Paul Hartung of Groveland.

DEATHS

Holmes E. Bates, descendant of the famous Hub poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes, died Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James H. Morton, 19 Marland road, Ballardvale, after a long illness.

Being 76 years old at his death, Mr. Bates had lived a long and active life. He had been a Sunday school teacher and choirmaster at the Congregational Church in Waitsfield, Vt., where he resided for many years. He had also studied civil engineering at Norwich University.

Surviving him are his daughter, Mrs. Gladys Morton, with whom he made his home; a granddaughter, Anne Morton, and a grandson, James Morton.

Funeral services were held from the Morton home Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m., with Rev. Carl Wilson, pastor of the Ballardvale Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in the family lot in the cemetery at Waitsfield, Vt.

We Have What The Other Stores Haven't

In placing this statement on our circular we do so because almost every day some lady makes the statement, "I have looked all over town for this article of food and no other store carries it."

We have in this store over 2800 food items from which a good housekeeper may select what she needs for her home. We are glad to be known as a "General Food Store." Yes, we have what chain food stores do not have.

New Minister Has Wide Experience

Christ Church opens its fall season next Sunday with a new schedule of services. The morning devotions will begin at 11 a. m. instead of 10:00, as will be the case throughout the winter months. Holy Communion, as before, will be distributed at 8:00.

Not only will the time be different, but the minister as well. Rev. John Shapleigh Moses, substituting for the Rev. Albert C. Morris, now putting in a year's service as an army chaplain, will preach for the first time next Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Moses comes to his Andover charge with a wealth of parochial experience. Born in Philadelphia, October 23, 1891, he was educated at St. Paul's School, Garden City, Long Island, and Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., graduating there with the class of 1914. He received his degree of Batchelor of Divinity three years later from the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge.

During the World War, the Rev. Mr. Moses served as civilian chaplain at the Boston Navy Yard and the Chelsea Naval Hospital. Following the war, he became assistant rector of the large parish of Trinity Church in Boston, serving there from December, 1918 to January of 1922.

He became rector of St. John's Church, Georgetown Parish, in January, 1922, remaining there till nearly four years later, November, 1925, when he became rector of the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill, Mass. Since September, 1940, he has been assistant rector of St. Paul's Cathedral and Emmanuel Church, Boston.

Becoming a clergyman was almost a natural thing for Rev. Mr. Moses, since his father, Rev. John R. Moses, was Dean of the Cathedral at Garden City, Long Island, for 23 years.

The new pastor has many affiliations in this Episcopal diocese. He is a member of the Diocesan Council, and chairman of the Constitutional Committee. From 1936 to 1940, he was chairman of the Department of Religious Education of the Diocese, and a provisional Deputy at the last General Convention. He is also a member of the Board of Fellows of Trinity College, in Hartford, Conn.

Baptist Church Notes

At a special meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, Sunday evening, the following slate of officers were nominated to be voted on next Sunday night:

President: Vernie Livingstone, Rovena Eastman, Donald Lundgren.

Secretary: Emily Livingstone, Rebecca Stevens, Glenna Draper.

Treasurer: Ethel Littourneau, Ruth MacLachlan.

Following the meeting a trip was made out to Stevens Pond in North Andover. A party for the young people of the church who are eligible for Christian Endeavor, was planned for this coming Saturday evning. If the weather is good the meeting will be held out of doors, if not at the home of one

Maybe it does, when you're calling long distance. Maybe you need to talk to a certain individual. If so, you can make a Person-to-Person call and pay only if you get the individual.

But if it doesn't matter who answers — if anyone at the other end will do — then a Station-to-Station call is in order, and the charge is lower than the Person-to-Person rate.

This two-way arrangement or caller's choice has been worked out, like all other details of telephone service, to give you utmost convenience and value at the lowest possible cost.

Women's Defense School Organized For Andover

Several of our more enterprising lady citizens are planning to organize a Women's Defence School in Andover. Probably there won't be anything as romantic as those riflewomen we saw in the movies the other evening, sharpening their eye to pick off the first parachute troops, but courses in Mobile Canteen work, Motor Corps, Warden Training, First Aid, and Home Nursing will be offered.

Andover women interested in taking any of these courses may communicate with any of the following: Mrs. Charles D. Thompson, telephone 527; Mrs. William T. Rich, telephone 22; Mrs. Walter Rankin, 52; Mrs. Anna Kulin, 46, or Mrs. Jerome Cross, 350.

Cole Made Chief Air Raid Warden

It has been announced that Lieut. Albert Cole, of the Fire Department, will be Chief Air Raid Warden for the Andover district. Patrolman Carl Stevens will be his deputy.

The duties of the chief air raid warden are to receive reports on the presence, numbers and route of enemy bombers and to supervise the proper warning of the people of his community. In the event of an actual bombing, he will notify the representatives of such utilities as the gas, electric, water, telephone and telegraph, police and fire departments, hospitals and rescue squads.

In the event that Andover is bombed—which seems a rather remote possibility, but one worth preparing for—the safety of its people will lie in capable hands, as Lieut. Cole and Officer Stevens are at present taking the courses at the Air Raid Precautions Training School at Phillips Academy.

Air Raid School Speakers

The speakers at the Air Raid Precautions School at Phillips Academy for the coming week will be:

Tonight: Prof. Howard Haggard of Yale speaks on "War Gases." There will be a demonstration of the use of gas masks by a group from the Army Base in Boston.

Next Tuesday: William Diddleboch of the General Electric Company, "Industrial Organization of the A. R. P.," and Robert Denning of the Connecticut State Defense Council, final notes on the training of air raid wardens.

Former Residents Have Silver Jubilee

Married here in Andover by the Rev. Frank R. Shipman, in 1916, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Anderson recently celebrated their silver wedding anniversary in Medway, Mass., where Mr. Anderson, son of Mrs. Mary E. Anderson of Chestnut street, has been superintendent of schools for several years. Mrs. Anderson was the former Ethel Gardner of this town.

The Andersons have lived away from Andover almost since their marriage, but they are well remembered here. Jim was quite an athlete hereabouts in decades ago, having captained the football team at Punchard, as well as winning the Goldsmith prize and being president of the class of 1910 there. Mrs. Anderson graduated with the class of 1911.

For two years after their marriage, Mr. Anderson taught school in South Dartmouth, Mass., after which he came to Medway, becoming the first principal of the new Medway High School in 1918. He has held that position ever since, and, since 1939, has also been superintendent of the Medway schools.

Mrs. Anderson has also had a full share of public life in Medway, being a past president of the Medway Women's Club, of which she has been a member for the last decade.

They have one son, James, Jr., engaged in the theatrical world.

On the evening of their anniversary, September 2, hundreds of townspeople and other friends called at the Anderson home, and a continuous luncheon was served. The home was prettily decorated for the celebration, with a number of lighted candles as well as a beautiful array of cut flowers of the season.

BALLARDVALE

Rededication Service

The parishioners of the Union Congregational Church held a rededication service last Sunday morning. There had been no services during the month of August, while the interior of the church was being repaired and beautified.

Through gifts and contributions many new furnishings have been added. An altar, a doss, an electric clock, new carpets and new seat coverings add to the charm of the church. The walls have received a new coat of paint and varnish, and there is a new ceiling.

Dr. Ralph M. Timberlake, president of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, was the guest preacher. There was special music by the choir, and Rev. David Segestrom led the congregation in a short dedicatory service.

Another ceremony will be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 18, when neighboring ministers and friends will join in a service and social evening.

News Of Old Andover

50 YEARS AGO—Cecil Bancroft broke all previous records by climbing Mt. Agassiz in 19 minutes . . . Charles Abbott, aged nine, fell from a third story window, but was only shaken up. They built 'em rugged in the good old days...The Farmers' Club picnic at Shadyside Grove, Haggett's Pond, was pretty poorly attended, but those who went had a swell time...A tally-ho party stopped at the Elm House, and attracted considerable attention...A few people got seasick at Thomas Bentley's fishing party off Marblehead...Labor Day was pretty quiet in town, rain falling steadily all day...Everything was about ready for the opening of the electric railway, scheduled for the following week...The well-known fish dealer, T. J. Farmer, was enlarging his business...Rev. E. B. Bary of Ballardvale was wondering how to get those sinful bicycle riders to go to church on Sunday...The Theological Seminary was scheduled to open September 15...Someone was agitating for the formation of a military company...Noyes' Furniture Warerooms were selling refrigerators and baby carriages at cost, why, we can't say...

25 YEARS AGO—Punchard opened with so many students that two sessions were necessary. Superintendent Henry C. Sanborn had just assumed his new duties...David L. Coutts had spent the week-end at York Beach, Maine...George Abbott was taking a vacation from his duties in the Smith and Dove office...Misses Gladys Ralph and Geraldine Fitzgerald were going to business school in Boston...The Andover Canoe Club was pretty puffed up about receiving two invitations for the same day...And the Andover Citizens' Rifle Club was expecting to receive its equipment from the government any day now...Wendell Kydd spent the holiday week-end at Salisbury Beach...It was touch and go with four Andover men when a rock blasted from the farm of Stanislaus Chlebowski struck the footboard of their wagon...The annual flower show opened in the Town Hall...Grace Woodburn was appointed school nurse for the fall term...A dog named Tim was waiting to greet the patrons of the Old Abbot Homestead Tea Garden...The R. C. O. A. was planning to sponsor a series of four concerts...Rev. E. V. Bigelow gave a sermon on the "Religious Significance of the Railroad Strike."..Mrs. Holmes E. Bates of Ballardvale, and her daughter Gladys, were enjoying a ten-day auto trip through the White Mountains...John Deyermond had visited friends in New Hampshire over the holiday...Mrs. William Stirling and Miss Ann McEwen were planning to take a trip to Scotland...

10 YEARS AGO—An organ grinder, a scissors grinder, and some small boys playing marbles made people wonder whether there were to be two springs that year...The West Parish Church was planning an Outdoor Pow-Wow...Abbot was opening with a newly-enlarged skating pond...Some Highland Road residents were petitioning to have it repaired...The Andover Lions Club was negotiating for the presence of ex-Governor Fuller at one of their meetings...Punchard again broke the record for enrollment, with 373 students...A few friends and relatives gathered to watch the blooming of W. A. Allen's night-blooming cereus..Construction was progressing steadily at the new Academy chapel...Doris Ferrier returned after spending the summer in Andover, N. H....Townspeople were debating the necessity of the two years' experience rule adopted by the school committee as a basis for the selection of teachers...George Eaton and family returned from Pine Point, Maine...William Harnedy was re-appointed district deputy of the K. of C.

News Of Old Andover

50 YEARS AGO—Cecil Bancroft broke all previous records by climbing Mt. Agassiz in 19 minutes . . . Charles Abbott, aged nine, fell from a third story window, but was only shaken up. They built 'em rugged in the good old days...The Farmers' Club picnic at Shadyside Grove, Haggett's Pond, was pretty poorly attended, but those who went had a swell time...A tally-ho party stopped at the Elm House, and attracted considerable attention...A few people got seasick at Thomas Bentley's fishing party off Marblehead ..Labor Day was pretty quiet in town, rain falling steadily all day...Everything was about ready for the opening of the electric railway, scheduled for the following week...The well-known fish dealer, T. J. Farmer, was enlarging his business...Rev. E. B. Bary of Ballardvale was wondering how to get those sinful bicycle riders to go to church on Sunday...The Theological Seminary was scheduled to open September 15...Someone was agitating for the formation of a military company...Noyes' Furniture Warerooms were selling refrigerators and baby carriages at cost why, we can't say...

25 YEARS AGO—Punchard opened with so many students that two sessions were necessary. Superintendent Henry C. Sanborn had just assumed his new duties...David L. Coutts had spent the week-end at York Beach, Maine...George Abbott was taking a vacation from his duties in the Smith and Dove office...Misses Gladys Ralph and Geraldine Fitzgerald were going to business school in Boston...The Andover Canoe Club was pretty puffed up about receiving two invitations for the same day...And the Andover Citizens' Rifle Club was expecting to receive its equipment from the government any day now...Wendell Kydd spent the holiday week-end at Salisbury Beach...It was touch and go with four Andover men when a rock blasted from the farm of Stanislaus Chlebowski struck the footboard of their wagon...The annual flower show opened in the Town Hall... Grace Woodburn was appointed school nurse for the fall term...A dog named Tim was waiting to greet the patrons of the Old Abbot Homestead Tea Garden...The R. C. O. A. was planning to sponsor a series of four concerts...Rev. E. V. Bigelow gave a sermon on the "Religious Significance of the Railroad Strike."..Mrs. Holmes E. Bates of Ballardvale, and her daughter Gladys, were enjoying a ten-day auto trip through the White Mountains...John Deyermond had visited friends in New Hampshire over the holiday...Mrs. William Stirling and Miss Ann McEwen were planning to take a trip to Scotland...

10 YEARS AGO—An organ grinder, a scissors grinder, and some small boys playing marbles made people wonder whether there were to be two springs that year...The West Parish Church was planning an Outdoor Pow-Wow...Abbot was opening with a newly-enlarged skating pond...Some Highland Road residents were petitioning to have it repaired...The Andover Lions Club was negotiating for the presence of ex-Governor Fuller at one of their meetings...Punchard again broke the record for enrollment, with 373 students...A few friends and relatives gathered to watch the blooming of W. A. Allen's night-blooming cereus..Construction was progressing steadily at the new Academy chapel...Doris Ferrier returned after spending the summer in Andover, N. H....Townspeople were debating the necessity of the two years' experience rule adopted by the school committee as a basis for the selection of teachers... George Eaton and family returned from Pine Point, Maine...William Harnedy was re-appointed district deputy of the K. of C.
